

For:

Current PK – 12 teachers who wish to develop their ability to apply Howard Gardner's Multiple Intelligences theory in their classrooms.

Outcome:

The M.A. Education – Multiple Intelligences program focuses on the application of multiple intelligences and the arts in the traditional and inclusive classroom as a means to differentiate instruction and address the varying abilities of all students across all content areas.

Focus of the Program:

Develop knowledge and use of multiple intelligences theory to differentiate instruction and assessment based on students' learning strengths. You will become comfortable in the arts so that you will be able to provide interactive instruction and assessment experiences for your students.

Program Design:

The M.A. Education – Multiple Intelligences program follows a cohort model. Except for the 6 credit July, 2012 class, you will meet one night a week from 4:45 – 8:45 p.m. The July 2012 class will meet 9:00-5:00 daily for 13 days. You will finish your coursework in approximately 16 months, completing your comprehensive examination in July 2013. Students will be required to complete an additional 6 credit hour course during Summer 2012.

Career Outcome:

Upon completion of this program, students will have earned a Master of Arts in Education degree with a concentration in Multiple Intelligences.

Prerequisites:

Students in the M.A. Education – Multiple Intelligences program will hold at least a bachelor's degree and a current teaching certification, with one year of full time, contracted, licensed teaching experience. Students must have a classroom available to them, throughout the program, to fulfill field study requirements.
